EC107: Economics 1

Comments

However, his methods of teaching are similar to the ones of elementary teachers. He picks the students who don't know or weren't paying attention to come to the board and explain. Although this might make them more involved in the seminar, it also antagonises unsure students; not to mention they feel afraid to answer his questions. Mr. Tulli clarifies the content for the knowledgeable, but alienates the unsure.

Very passionate and wanted everyone to get involved. Helped develop my Economics knowledge. However, occasionally seemed to be caught off guard by some questions posed by students which they didn't feel he sufficiently answered.
